CF NAIOP awards REAL Bowl winners

Friday, May 14th, 2010

ORLANDO - The Developing Leaders committee of NAIOP Central Florida, the Commercial Real Estate Development Association, hosted its 2nd Annual "REAL Bowl" Case Study Competition in which the UCF student team Pegasus Development was awarded first place at the Marriott Orlando Downtown. This year's competition included one team from Rollins College Crummer School of Business and three teams from the University of Central Florida. Each team, comprised of three to five students, devised a mixed-use development plan for a prime undeveloped site on their campus. Members of the winning team from UCF's Dr. P. Phillips School of Real Estate were presented with a check totaling $1,000 and included Isaiah Cottle, Nate Eissler, Ian Lay, Kevin Menendez and Jared Rubinoff. Their team proposed a 465-bed on-campus development named Olympus Village Greek Park.
